Umbut Muda

Once upon a time, lived a beautiful young girl in Sumatra. Her name was Umbut Muda. She was very rich because when her father died, she inherited all his money and the house. She became nasty and proud of herself. Even, she didn't respect her mother. She ordered her mother to clean the house, wash her clothes, and cook her food.

One day, Umbut Muda was invited to attend a feast in another village. She wore her most beautiful dress and all her jewelries. Her mother was with her, holding the umbrella to protect Umbut Muda from the sun.

As they were passing the bridge, Umbut Muda accidentally dropped one of her bracelets. The bracelet fell into the river. She shouted to her mother and ordered her to go down to the river to find her bracelet. The poor mother did accordingly. She searched the bracelet in the water, but the river was flooded because of the rain the night before so it was impossible for her to get it.

Knowing that the mother failed to get her bracelet back, Umbut Muda was furious. She yelled at her mother, "You are a stupid lazy woman!" she said.

"Go down to the river again and get my bracelet back!" she stamped her foot and didn't realize that the bridge was slippery. She slipped over the bridge and fell into the river. She screamed for help. Her mother tried to help her, but the stream was too fast, Umbut Muda was drowned.

A Fox and Goat

Have you ever heard any stories about foxes? A Fox is told about as a sly animal which likes to cheat others by tricks.

One hot summer day when all the ponds and rivers were dry, a fox walked about to look for water to drink. At last he found an old well in which there was a little water. But the well was very deep, and the water was out of his reach.

He tried again and again to reach it, and at last he fell in but he could not get out. He was just like a prey in a trap.

By and by a goat came to the well and saw the fox in it. He asked the fox, "What is the water like down there?"
